

DEFENDS PURPOSE OF VAN NESS ACT

Ex-Governor Stokes Declares It Does Not Deny Right of Jury Trial

COVERS MINOR CASES ONLY

Asbury Park, Nov. 2.—Former Governor E. C. Stokes, speaking as State chairman of the New Jersey Republican State Committee, before the county organization of Monmouth County, at a dinner held in the Coleman House today, said the Republicans had not been a party to the denial of the right of trial by jury, and that "the Van Ness Act was not a party to the denial of trial by jury where offenses against the liquor laws were serious."

He said the Van Ness Act simply provides that its violators should be punishable under the Distinctive Act, and that act does not provide for a jury trial in minor cases of offense.

Under it no person can be sentenced to a Federal prison, nor can he be incarcerated in the county jail for a longer term than six months; therefore, the Van Ness Act simply covers minor infractions of law.

"Under the Volstead Act, where a man can be sent to Federal prison for six months or more, the Van Ness Act added the right of trial by jury still obtains, so that the principle of trial by jury is recognized as serious and punishment likewise. The Van Ness Act, therefore, only covering minor offenses, does not deny any right to trial by jury."

No little thought seems to exist in the minds of some concerning the party's attitude on the Eighteenth Amendment. The misunderstanding that exists grows largely out of the untenable impression that the Eighteenth Amendment can be suspended and nullified by state legislation. Governor Edwards promised that, if the Constitution still stands, it will be the supreme law of the land. The Republican platform or no other platform can change it, even if that had been the convention's wish.

"You can't get like the Eighteenth Amendment. That is my reason for its violation. I am for the amendment, but have the right to violate it, as I gained largely because it does not affect me."

"I know a large number of folks who really haven't any notion why they are wet in their own cellar. If there is a large number of wet ones, then the slightest suspicion of why they are wet. Many of them are dry, of course, but, you know, every year, we think that to be dry is a kind of religion, that will sweep them through the peach gates on angel wings, know a great many who think that to be wet is the fundamental of personal liberty and part of the Magna Charta that the Barons forced from King John."

"None of these denounces is surprising logically. One side finds it safe and says: 'We insist on the right of trial by jury.' The other side says: 'There are many cases where there is no right of trial by jury.' Both are right. The Republican platform doesn't deny the right of trial by jury. The Augustan was once believed in it, fought for it for centuries, and is just as much devoted to it as a mother to her child."

Senator Lewis Says Ex-Vice President Will Head Democratic Ticket

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—(By A. P.)—Former United States Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, who attended the Democratic National Committee meeting yesterday, said the fight between the McAdoo and Cox contingents for the chairmanship was as profitless as "a uniting in an army preparing for war over the selection of a drill subject."

He said the conflict between the McAdoo and Cox forces would make former Vice President Thomas R. Marshall the nominee for President in 1924.

Lewis anticipated the abolition of the Democratic National Committee and all other party national committees, deeming they are not needed in national politics.

Two Women Hit by Auto

Anna Sweeney and Mary McSweeney, domestics employed at Ogontz Hill, were struck by a motorist yesterday on York road and Meeting House road as they were going to church. The motorist did not stop and his identity was not learned. The young women were cut and bruised. They were treated at the Abington Hospital.

ITALY'S 'UNKNOWN' IS LYING IN STATE

King and Peasant Alike Pay Homage to Symbol of 500,000 Dead

WILL BE BURIED FRIDAY

By the Associated Press

Rome, Nov. 2.—Solemn reverence by King and peasant, symbol of her 500,000 dead, when the body arrived in Rome this morning and was transported on a gun carriage to the Church of Santa Maria degli Angeli. It will there lie in state until the final interment on Friday in the "cathedral of the country," under the Victor Emmanuel Monument.

The train carrying the body arrived in a station of Rome last night, being met by the Mayor and members of the Municipal Council. The cars of the train were virtually filled with floral tributes to the unknown soldier, more than 500 wreaths having been placed aboard by the authorities of nearly 100 towns through which the train had passed on its trip from Aquileia, northeast of Venice, to Rome. Dignitaries, former soldiers and local organizations sent flowers, which were placed in the cars. Crowds numbering many thousands gathered at many stations or along the railroad, either preserving reverent silence or waving flags and singing patriotic songs.

This morning the car was brought to the Central Station in this city, and the prince and official Italy came to pay homage.

The King and Queen, as the chief mourners, stood with bowed heads as the coffin, draped in the tricolor, was carried from the train on the shoulders of eight valorous non-commissioned officers to the waiting gun carriage.

Members of the royal household, Queen, Queen Mother, Princesses, Ministers of State, Senators and Deputies, general staffs of the army and navy, crippled veterans, widows and mothers, all united in silent honor for the dead.

The cortege was formed in the station square, and between lines of soldiers at present arms proceeded to the church, which was but three blocks away. The route was filled with a somber, quiet crowd.

its symbol of a nation's grief drawn by eight artillery chargers rolled heavily along the line of the cortège. By its side walked an escort of honor, the little more than a score of men decorated with the highest military honor, the Gold Medal of Valor. These were their living bravest.

Then followed the King and the royal family as the chief mourners. Still they plodded behind the "unknown" to the church followed by the Ministers, the generals, admirals, diplomatic corps, foreign court judges, Mayors of the large cities, representatives of the windows, mothers and crippled soldiers' organizations.

N. Y. HAS ANOTHER MILKLESS MORNING

Little Prospect of Settlement of Strike—Truck Drivers Are Stoned

CLEVELAND ALSO IS HIT

By the Associated Press

New York, Nov. 2.—Citizens of the metropolitan area rose again this morning to breakfast without milk and cream on the second day of the milk handlers' strike, with small prospect of a strike settlement in sight.

Except for deliveries by small distributing companies the milk delivery system continued in a state of paralysis. Representatives of the employers' organization, the Milk Conference Board and Milk Wagon Drivers' Union were called to the office of Mayor Hyatt this morning to discuss possible terms of settlement. Both sides expressed little hope of reaching a settlement.

The employers, in reply to a request by Mayor Hyatt to arbitrate the dispute, said the drivers' demand for a $5 weekly increase and two weeks' vacation with pay, in case today's conference came to nothing, refused, asserting any arbitration must include the questions of an open-shop policy and a reduction of wages provided by the contract, which expired on November 1. They reiterated their intention of establishing the open shop.

Several cases of violence by the strike sympathizers were reported to the police. Three men were arrested after they were said to have stoned a driver of a truck with a supply of milk for hospitals. The policeman who made the arrests held back a crowd of 500 with his revolver.

Strike sympathizers stoned other drivers at distributing stations, the police said, and patrolmen were sent to the stations to preserve order and insure the safe delivery of milk.

A large crowd assembled at one large company's downtown plant and jeered the arrival of 100 strike-breakers.
